The 7 Deadly Sins of Contract Drafting

How (not) to put your career on the fast track to purgatory

Wrath

Don't be caught with the wrong clauses when things go bad and the parties get mad

Presented by Jamie Wodetzki

Wrath

- Don't be caught with the wrong clauses when things go bad and the parties get mad.
- Angry parties litigate.
- The litigation microscope is not kind.
- Consider the humble dispute resolution clause...

Wrath

- What does your boilerplate say?
- When is mediation best?
- When is arbitration best?
- When are the courts best?
- Where should you arbitrate?
- Which rules are best in which scenarios?
- Did that junior associate guess correctly?
